between the two can be very difficult and often requires an extensive evaluation, such as questioning